

Copyright 2020 Charlene Sullivan

The Abyss

Suggested A-list Recording and Performing Artist(s):

Ellie Goulding and Elton John, Ariana Grande and Justin Bieber, Demi Lovato and Brad Paisley, Adele and Harry Stiles, or Celine Dion and Andrea Bocelli, etc.

Note: This song may be sung as a female solo or a male and female duet, depending on the perspective from which the vocalist interprets the lyrics meaning and messages conveyed within.

Verse 1

I never needed anyone, until the day that I met you,
You opened my heart, introduced me to life and love,
A world I thought existed only in motion pictures or on TV,
A love that can never be, your words still echoing, within my heart.

Chorus

The words still echoing within my heart, we have no future,
There is no beginning, there is no start,
A love unrequited by fame and fortune,
A love that can never be, yet, love still echoes in my heart.

Verse 2

I never knew that popularity could cause so much strife and grief, so much agony,
The paparazzi and fans following our every move, sounds of adulation,
Of crowds screaming this love can never be, trying to get attention, however negatively,
A love that can never be, their words still echoing, through the corridors of my heart.

Chorus

The words still echoing within my heart, we have no future,
There is no beginning, there is no start,
A love unrequited by fame and fortune,
A love that can never be, yet, love still echoes in my heart.

Verse 3

Like a maze constructed of ten foot high walls, dead ends round every corner,
They thwarted our love by blocking our path, putting sticks in our wheels,
Putting up road blocks and detours, showing us the stop sign, sending signals, all of the time,
A love that can never be, their clear indications, echoing, still, within my heart.

Chorus

The words still echoing within my heart, we have no future,
There is no beginning, there is no start,
A love unrequited by fame and fortune,
A love that can never be, yet, love still echoes in my heart.

Verse 4

They hunted us, firing incessantly, shooting like we were game,
An attempted, but failed assassination, carried out with intent to destroy and to discredit,
A virtual reality played out in HD imagery and surround sound quality,
This game of thrones, a love that can never be, still echoing within my heart.

Chorus

The words still echoing within my heart, we have no future,
There is no beginning, there is no start,
A love unrequited by fame and fortune,
A love that can never be, yet, love still echoes in my heart.

Verse 5

Constantly evading, running and hiding, from the public's steely glare,
Looks that could kill and probably would except they no longer dare,
I would die for you, and they know it's true, like the love I felt and still feel for you,
The love that still echoes within my heart.

Bridge 1 (Male Vocalist)

No more strife and struggle, I want you to know, I love you more than ever,
Nothing can come between us, any longer, now, it is forevermore,
Like a Taylor Swift song, echoing begin again, our future together,
Visible now, the light that I can see at the end of this tunnel,
The never-ending maze of fame and fortune, our mutual fate has turned the bend,
Crashing into our shared destiny, like Taylor says, it's really not the end.

Bridge 2 (Female Vocalist)

My love for you echoes on and on,
I hear the sounds in the corridors of my soul,
The feelings still resounding within my broken heart, speak that I must now make a new start,
It's time, now, we need to let go and move on,
Make a new life for you and I; reunited, here, standing, once again, by my side, Promise me this; you'll never succumb, again, to the darkness of the night or to the maze of the abyss.

Verse 6

The future looks bright, the echoes sound right, announcing the end of this maze,
From this vantage point, and in the distance, the horizon beyond these walls, I see you,
Standing at the beginning, only now, about to make a new life, a new start,
No more hiding, no more crying, nothing, here, except our love, still echoing within the corridors of our hearts.

Chorus

The words still echoing within my heart, we have no future,
There is no beginning, there is no start,
A love unrequited by fame and fortune,
A love that can never be, yet, love still echoes in my heart.