Verse 1

A beautiful evening, the sun is about to set
The time? It is dusk

An amber light, brightly, glows, shedding light on this spot
Where a tree once stood

Tall and straight, growing high, skyward bound
Until it died last year and was felled to the ground

Opening a window, peeking through the forest's growth
A seeing-eye to the horizon on the other side of the hill

A view of the distant Western sky
Line of sight to the sunshine coastline

Not only a state of my mind
The view speaks to me as I listen, alone, with only this single beating heart

Calling my name within the silence of the impending darkness of night
Reminding me that life's worth living if only to see one more time the morning's rising light

Not only made of things that are only in vain
Reminding me there's more to living life than just death, turmoil, and pain

Chorus

From dusk to dawn, beauty was marked in the old tree that once stood here carved with our names

The temperature? It is cooler now

No longer humidity, lingering at dusk with the approaching night

Baby, the time has come to let me know that you still care

Life is beautiful just like you are

But, dare I say so out loud? Is it really time to leave this place and move on?

Won't you have a seat, please sit down

Let me throw a blanket upon this sacred ground

Lie with me here, stay for a while

Why not stay up and make love through the night?

Cuddle in the warm summer grass

Until the morning comes and night-time has passed

I'll love you each day, I promise you this

From dawn to dusk, I'll always love you like this

I'll love you each night, I promise you this

From dusk to dawn, I'll always love you like this

Bridge

Kiss me here under the stars

Let me caress you, love you, until the break of dawn

Make love to me in the fresh mid-night air

Alone together, we're hidden, out of sight, without any cares

No reason for apprehensions or fears

Make love to me in the fresh mid-night air

Stay with me, here, for as long as we can

'Til the sun rises and sets, over and over, again and again

Stay with me here for as long as we can.

Til the sun sets and rises, over and over, again and again.

Verse 2

A beautiful morning

The sun has risen

The time? It is dawn

The birds now chirping, they are singing a beautiful love song

Awakening the animals, the chipmunks, the squirrels

Announcing it's time to get moving, time to move things along

Time to awaken and prepare breakfast for two

For a new day has come and you are still here and I am, too

Smile, baby, I'm standing, staying growing strong

Snuggling you, holding you closer in the chilly misty morning air

Dew drops have formed on the grass around and beneath the blanket we placed on the ground

Above us the sun is breaking through the clouds

Shining, brightly, as it warms everything it touches

Burning through the fog that still lingers in the air

Stay with here for as long as you can

Hold me in your arms and watch the sun rise 'til it appears through that window and shines in your eyes

Chorus

From dusk to dawn, beauty was marked in the old tree that once stood here carved with our names

The temperature? It is cooler now

No longer humidity, lingering at dusk with the approaching night

Baby, the time has come to let me know that you still care

Life is beautiful just like you are

But, dare I say so out loud? Is it really time to leave this place and move on?

Won't you have a seat, please sit down

Let me throw a blanket upon this sacred ground

Lie with me here, stay for a while

Why not stay up and make love through the night?

Cuddle in the warm summer grass

Until the morning comes and night-time has passed

I'll love you each day, I promise you this

From dawn to dusk, I'll always love you like this

I'll love you each night, I promise you this

From dusk to dawn, I'll always love you like this

Repeat

I'll love you each day, I promise you this

From dusk to dawn, I'll love you each day and each night, exactly, like this
