

Copyright 2020 Charlene Sullivan
Half a Dozen Wishes
Suggested A-list Recording and Performing Artist(s):
Christina Aguilera and Demi Lovato
Note: Suggesting a Female Duet with Christina Aguilera as Genie and Demi Lovato as the person to whom Genie grants three wishes

Verse 1

Hello, my name is Genie. How do you do?
Any wishes you've dreamed, some day, might come true?

Sure, I can be your Genie in a lamp, let me tell you how, I know some stuff
I've been around, know it can be rough, and times can be tough

Secrets, a dime a dozen, not worth much, the truth be told
Truth or dare a game where secrets and wishes can be said out loud, but never sold

So, speak up, don't be shy, you have my undivided attention
You have my ear, if you'll permit, I'll happily be your Genie and grant you your favourite wish

As the legend says, for waking me up from my slumber, and releasing me from my lamp,
I may grant you only three wishes this may be your big chance!

Tell me your dreams, I can grant each one, so make them really count,
I'm daring you to tell me all, raise the stakes, go high-sky

Chorus

Half a dozen wishes to make one dream come true
A Genie released from her magic lamp holds the key that opens doors to a world of possibility

With wisdom and experience, speaking clearly, resonating truly
Genie says that what you want isn't always what you should ask for and isn't always what you need

Genie hears your wishes, then tell you what she sees
Asking Genie for what your heart desires without inhibition or restriction is, exactly, how she wants you to proceed

Like a beacon in a lighthouse, guiding ships and sailors from stormy, murky waters, onto to safer shores
Genie knows that what you're asking for isn't always anchored in things that will lead you to a heart of gold; the one that's your very own!

Verse 2

The sky is the limit, so tell me your first wish, what will it be?
Make it good, but first let me guess, and let me know if I can see

A convertible sports car, a Mercedes-Benz, a Bentley, or a Maserati?
Before you share your second wish, know that Genie's magic powers are limited to three, so make them your very best

With my wink and my nod, your shiny new sports car will appear and your first wish will come true
What's that you say? Genie doesn't know what's in store for her and you?

Expensive sports cars not on your wish list
Your dream is to have a little cottage in the countryside and that's the first item on your wish list

A safe haven, a quiet place where you may ride away from fast cars, bright lights, and noisy crowds, and
The paparazzi who chase after you, every single chance they have

A place hidden from the spotlight in a secure and private destination
Where you may follow a simpler and less complicated way of life

Chorus

Half a dozen wishes to make one dream come true
A Genie released from her magic lamp holds the key that opens doors to a world of possibility

With wisdom and experience, speaking clearly, resonating truly
Genie says that what you want isn't always what you should ask for and isn't always what you need

Genie hears your wishes, then tell you what she sees
Asking Genie for what your heart desires without inhibition or restriction is, exactly, how she wants you to proceed

Like a beacon in a lighthouse, guiding ships and sailors from stormy, murky waters, onto to safer shores
Genie knows that what you're asking for isn't always anchored in things that will lead you to a heart of gold; the one that's your very own!

Verse 3

Your second wish, what might it be?
Let me guess, again, maybe this time I will see

It must be about having more of something, wait, I know, a lot of money?
Tons of it, how about, a billion dollars in a Swiss bank account, in USD currency?

Bonds to be more exact I'm sure you'll agree, I've got it, precise, exact, surely you see?
What's that you say? Money, independent wealth never crossed your mind, I see

Charitable gestures, acts of goodwill, advocacy, giving back
I get it, now, things that are down to earth like leaving a legacy, in fact, are as well-suited to you as me

The world your destination, remote, far-away, distant locations
No place and nothing left untried, no longer hiding in a retreat way out in the familiar countryside

The four corners of the map, not one inch of canvass left uncharted, like on a magic carpet ride
Hold on! We're flying at jet speeds without a roof and there isn't any friction, so we can go with the flow; now we can simply soar and glide!

Chorus

Half a dozen wishes to make one dream come true
A Genie released from her magic lamp holds the key that opens doors to a world of possibility

With wisdom and experience, speaking clearly, resonating truly
Genie says that what you want isn't always what you should ask for and isn't always what you need

Genie hears your wishes, then tell you what she sees
Asking Genie for what your heart desires without inhibition or restriction is, exactly, how she wants you to proceed

Like a beacon in a lighthouse, guiding ships and sailors from stormy, murky waters, onto to safer shores
Genie knows that what you're asking for isn't always anchored in things that will lead you to a heart of gold; the one that's your very own!

Verse 4

So what's it going to be; your final wish of three?
Make it good cause it's the last chance to put Genie back in her lamp, you see

I'm guessing a designer home nestled in the Hollywood Hills where you alone will live
Luxury, hidden in a Canyon, backing on a steep hill, located in a pencil-thin-cul-de-sac, of course, what else could be more appealing?

What's that you say, wrong again?
Beverly Hills, Holmby Hills, and Fryman Canyon, no longer hold all the attraction

With their mansions that have more bathrooms than bedrooms, never thought of it quite that way, before, you see
You prefer a lighthouse keeper's cottage on a windswept, feather-point peninsula, jutting out into the North Atlantic Sea?

Do you see? Everything you want is out there waiting for you
Everything you want also wants you; can you, also, now see?

But, you have to take action to make your dreams come true
My best imaginable guesses, revealing your own favourite 3 wishes, and now the truth's revealed

Bridge

So, Genie, I will realize the dreams of my own choosing?
How interesting, now that you say it that way I see that I am able to control my own destiny

For sharing your insights and wisdom, Genie, I choose to grant you your 3 wishes
The ones buried in your words to me and hidden among my own three

That makes half a dozen wishes to realize one dream!
For seeing is believing, and believing is, well, seeing.

And because you believed, dear Genie, you are seeing that your wishes have also been revealed
Your message resonating, clearly, is being sung out loudly, coming true for not only you, but me

Your dream, Genie, has already been granted, has already come true
Does, Genie, now see what I have done for her, here, too?

A journey, a new beginning is commencing, now, for you
The days of granting wishes have ended, it's over, now, for you, it's through

My wish is for Genie is to be liberated, to be free!
So, you are never returning to that magic lamp, now, do you see that my 3 wishes were never being asked for me

Chorus

Half a dozen wishes to make one dream come true
A Genie released from her magic lamp holds the key that opens doors to a world of possibility

With wisdom and experience, speaking clearly, resonating truly
Genie says that what you want isn't always what you should ask for and isn't always what you need

Genie hears your wishes, then tell you what she sees
Asking Genie for what your heart desires without inhibition or restriction is, exactly, how she wants you to proceed

Like a beacon in a lighthouse, guiding ships and sailors from stormy, murky waters, onto to safer shores
Genie knows that what you're asking for isn't always anchored in things that will lead you to a heart of gold; the one that's your very own!