Verse 1

So you wrote me a love song, of sorts, never thought you would, have the courage, that is,
To tell the world that I exist and show them how I love you, still.

I know you're trying to tell me something, and it can only be one thing, not the other, you see,
Cause I know you heart-by-heart, and my soul say that your message is clear, darling, dear.

There is no love in your heart, nor has there ever been, not for me, I've only seen anime and disdain.
How could I not have seen the hatred, you have in your love for me, the coldness in your heart?

Chorus

Baby, my soul can't take it anymore.
You're killing me, softly, with your song; about him or me, in all honesty, I'm not sure.

Your secret play on words cuts me like a knife, making me feel like a fool for your love,
Feels like hot metal lodged deep in my heart.

I'm saying, I can't take it anymore, got to give you up, got to let my love for you go.
Baby, soul say, it's time for me to go.

Verse 2

Body and soul, it's always been my love for you that's carried the day,
Knowing, how mean he could be, made me sit right back down and stay.

To hear you sing about how you let him give my undying love for you away,
Will haunt me for the rest of my life, like a soul that's passed away, a ghost that just can't let go, let me rest in peace, I pray.

The day you released our song, my soul spoke as my heart bled, clenched between your teeth.
The injury you inflicted is fatal, a wound so deep that it will never, fully, heal.

Chorus

Baby, my soul can't take it anymore.
You're killing me, softly, with your song; about him or me, in all honesty, I'm not sure.

Your secret play on words cuts me like a knife, making me feel like a fool for your love,
Feels like hot metal lodged deep in my heart.

I'm saying, I can't take it anymore, got to give you up, got to let my love for you go.
Baby, soul say, it's time for me to go.

Verse 3

Never once, got us both, as he thought and bragged he did.
I only ever loved you, he's never been in this love affair, and it was always and forever only you for me.

As for me, well, it's only ever been a soul thing that says my love for you is true.
You were the joy of my life, my source of inspiration, and now, because of him, an infliction is draining me of the nourishment my soul needs to live.

The light beginning to fade, body severed from my soul.
The warrior is standing over me, my heart turned to stone, this body has become bitter and so cold.

Bridge

The pain now gone, my soul is free.
I pray, again, that one day you will, you must, surely see.

How body and soul, I love you still, and
So, help me God, I always, always will.

Verse 4

Don't ever let go, carry my memory in your heart, remember me throughout the seasons,
Especially, as Spring changes to Summer, and life is once again in full bloom.

See me in your sunshine, deep blue cloudless sky, raindrops, green leaves, pastel flower petals, and the colors of the rainbow in that, once again, deep blue sky.

Never forget, not for one single day or any moon and star lit night, how much you've always meant and will, forever, mean to me for the rest of my life.

Chorus

Baby, my soul can't take it anymore.

You're killing me, softly, with your song; about him or me, in all honesty, I'm not sure.

Your secret play on words cuts me like a knife, making me feel like a fool for your love,
Feels like hot metal lodged deep in my heart.

I'm saying, I can't take it anymore, got to give you up, got to let my love for you go.

Baby, soul say, it's time for me to go.
