

YOU!
Copyright 2020 Charlene Sullivan
Suggested A-list Recording and Performing Artist(s):
Taylor Swift, Demi Lovato, Selena Gomez, or Miley Cyrus, etc.

Verse One

Many questions come to mind
Like when we're living together will you still be mine?
Will togetherness divide, separate, split us apart?
Make us miserable cause we're missing the wishing that had us love struck at the start?
Then, create negativity, distrust, and more questions about true love
Thinking you are seeing someone else out of meaningless, loveless lust
And you thinking that I've been unfaithful, guilty of sin
Looking for love in all the wrong places, yet again
Yelling, telling me that I am wasting your time,
When the loving's all done at the day's darkest end
This is the scene that plays on repeat, over and over, again and again

Chorus

Is it me? Is it you?
Together, are we a harmonious unit, an indivisible family made up of just us two
To answer the third question, I don't think that we are
Our world, today, does not permit staying together, as a matter of fact, how very right you are
To answer the second question in an ideal world it would, indeed, be you
Cause you alone are the only one who can make all of your wildest dreams come true
To answer the first question it would, indeed, be me for you
Cause I'm still dreaming about living with my one and only, YOU!

Bridge 1

Is this love story going to be a sad or a happy ending?
The answer to that all important final question is still pending
Let's wait and see how this story is unfolding
Where on earth are we going?
In which direction is this love affair heading?
Happy or sad what will be the final ending?

Verse 2

Now let's see where we've landed
After months and years of pointless debating
You have to know it's been nothing but frustrating
Without happiness, just a whole lot of grief
Not to mention the agonizing struggle and the constant strife
Impossible that I am still the one for you, my love
And you cannot, possibly, still be the one for me
The only one it seems in the world who belongs to me is me
And the only one in the world who belongs to you is you

Bridge 2

And now that the all important questions have been asked and answered
Time to lay down the gauntlet and withdraw from this pointless, never-ending battle
Darling, a few final words before I leave or you go
I've never been in love before nor could I have loved anyone more you know
With every breathless moment it was YOU! The One who knocked the wind out of me!
And time and time, again and again, it was YOU! The One who brought me to my knees!

Chorus

Is it me? Is it you?
Together, are we a harmonious unit, an indivisible family made up of just us two
To answer the third question, I don't think that we are
Our world, today, does not permit staying together, as a matter of fact, how very right you are
To answer the second question in an ideal world it would, indeed, be you
Cause you alone are the only one who can make all of your wildest dreams come true
To answer the first question it would, indeed, be me for you
Cause I'm still dreaming about living with my one and only, YOU!